

Truth

By understanding the cause and effect of how early exposure to money transactions occur, you are awakening to truth. Whatever your personal circumstances were in your youth are just that – circumstances – not necessarily truth. If you are unhappy with your present financial situation, look at the misbeliefs that you were exposed to as a child, not only from your parents, but also from your religion, your government, or your education.

Right now I am going to tell you the universal truth about money. Every other thing that you have heard or every other thought that you believe is fiction.

First, and most importantly, money is a tool on earth for the expression of love. Through money, love can be expressed for oneself, others, humanity, living creatures, the earth, or ideas. An uncomplicated paradigm for life existing within universal truth is that there is prosperity and abundance for all creatures on earth. All ideas have merit and those leading to the expansion of love in any area will prosper. Those which do not will die.

As long as all of humanity embraces and successfully gives and receives love, the natural abundance will be discovered by all.

In an imperfect society where universal truth is not the foremost directive, there is still enough prosperity and abundance for all. Every person is entitled to a happy joyful life filled with the things and experiences that satisfy them. As one person's wealth expands, others' do as well. Prosperity breeds prosperity. Those who are not experiencing wealth are living within the fictitious false ideas that compromised the natural feelings of abundance that they were born with. As long as one false idea became a belief, thus replacing the rightful idea of natural abundance, the ability for that person to experience natural abundance may be compromised.

At this point, I would like to give you an exercise that will help you to reveal your own belief system in terms of money. This exercise is critical in helping you discover where you are living unconsciously and will awaken you to improved ideas that will help you journey towards riches.
